

Tiffany Hill Supervising Attorney

Education:

B.A., cum laude, Cornell University

J.D., with honors, University of Maryland School of Law

Immigration law experience:

Tiffany has been dedicated to the practice of corporate immigration law since 2004. She represents and manages Fortune 500 technology clients, advising them on all aspects of U.S. business immigration law, including nonimmigrant work visas and applications for permanent residence. She also advises companies on general immigration policies, planning, and I-9 compliance.

Before joining Pearl Law Group, Tiffany was an Associate with the immigration practice at Littler Mendelson. She previously worked for a full-service immigration firm in New York City.

While attending law school, Tiffany was selected as a Writing Fellow for the University of Maryland. She was Notes and Comments Editor for Margins: Maryland's Law Journal on Race, Religion, Gender, and Class. She also served as an Asper Fellow for Judge John Gossart, Jr. with the U.S. Immigration Court in Baltimore, Maryland, and completed a U.S. Department of State internship with the U.S. consulate in Manila, Philippines.

Q. What is your connection with immigration?

A. My father was also an immigration attorney. He immigrated to the U.S. and attended law school here. I'm the second generation in my family to practice immigration law.

Q. What is a fun fact about you?

A. Although most people learn to ride a bike as a kid, I just picked it up a few years ago. Now I have both a mountain bike and a road bike, and I try to squeeze in a ride whenever I can.
